A Growl at the Lonfers. To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

To the Elitor of the Intelligencer.

Those young men who day after day stand on the corners of our streets and seat themselves on every available place they can find, ought to be ashamed of themselves. Loading on the streets is not allowed in other cities and ought not to be allowed in other cities and ought not to be allowed in the streets is not allowed in the cities and ought not to be allowed in the complete to some of the complete to some allowed in the complete to some allo sometimes the crowd is so great that people have to push their way to get into the office. Congregating on the corners has got to be a regular nuisance, and it is to be hoped that the proper authorities will speedily put a stop to men and hove loaf. of men scated on the Post Office steps, and ing on the streets.

FROM A CITIZEN. The points made by our correspondent are well taken. The loading on the Post Office steps especially is not only annoying Office steps especially is not only annoying but disgraceful, and would not be tolerated a day in any well regulated city where the police have a proper comprehension of their duty. The loading on street cornof their duty. The loading on street corners is bad enough, but not so bad as that at the Post Offica. This is the judgment of a well informed English writer, and confirms what has been previously reported of the Warranted not to shake ont on your table or be food for mothe. Will last many years and universal dislike to the profligate young scion of royalty. And it is not calculated to help the cause of hereditary monarchy with the masses in England—already restless and aggressive in quest of new pow-ers—that a sensual imbecile of this kind must be their ruler by the "divine right of Kings," whether they wish it or not.

Democrars, do not allow usurping self-styled party leaders to force you to vote for the Conventien, and against your own interests, by cracking the party whip over you. It is not a party question at issue, but one in which all men should throw saide party bias, and look facts plainly in the face. Examine the question carefully, and then, if you are willing to pay the expense, and trist your liberties to such men as will compose the Convention, vote for it. But if, on the other hand, you think your taxes are now high enough, and that our present Constitution is good enough to live under until it can be changed by the Legislature, almost without expense, vote against it.—Kanabeh Republican. Its Cure and Preventive. BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D. Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proven means of care. Those near and dear to family and viscula are siespling the dreamless slumber into shich, had they camily adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines they would not have failes.

Dr. Schenck has, in his own case, proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptious. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure oy Dr. Schasch's medicines is as simple as it is unfaiting. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convicing.
